PATRICIA HAWES has in the past few years provided osteoporosis testing which was very much appreciated and resulted in her having a full list every time these testing sessions were on. She is now starting Tai Chi classes in Beaconsfield and Gerrards Cross in the week of 19th May, which will run every week. Tai Chi is a powerful exercise which will help with balance, core stability, stress, weight loss, arthritis, osteoporosis and type 2 diabetes. At the classes you can be weighed and given advice on your diet. She is starting the Tai Chi classes because osteoporosis patients have asked for exercise to help with their bone building, so she looked into the best form of exercise and Tai Chi fitted the bill. Interested people can phone Patricia Hawes on 01753 886500.

THE Chalfont St Peter Air Training Corps has taken an important initiative to help disaster victims all over the world by filling two 'Aquaboxes' for The Rotary Club of Misbourne Matins. Misbourne Matins Rotarian Peter Vermeylen attended the CSP's weekly meeting to take delivery of the Aquaboxes and to present Flight Lieutenant Richard Betts with a special certificate to mark the achievement.

The link between Misbourne Matins – the most dynamic Rotary Club in South Bucks – and the Air Training Corps was forged last year when the Rotary Club bought a projector for the Corps. In return, the cadets got together to fill two Aquaboxes which the Rotary movement sends to refugees of earthquakes, flooding and other natural disasters.

Each Aquabox is filled with household goods, tools, kitchen equipment, toiletries, clothes and children's items – and, crucially, a mechanical water filter and purification tablets, so that when the box is emptied, it can be filled with dirty water which can then be purified. This means that in addition to helping families with essential items, each Aquabox can produce 1100 litres of drinkable water.

Misbourne Matins' Aquabox initiative is run by Peter Vermeylen who is always looking for useful items to fill boxes. Last year alone, Misbourne Matins filled 22 boxes and Peter Vermeylen explained:

"People just don't realise that items like nails, hammers, buckets, loo paper and even packets of sanitary towels can be used to fill these boxes for people in need all over the world. If more people acted like the St Peter cadets, and donated unwanted items like this instead of just taking them to the tip, we could help even more people."

POP-IN meets every Thursday morning during term time from 10-11.30am in the Gold Hill Baptist Church and there is a crèche for babies and activities for pre-school children. This is a non-denominational group and all ladies are welcome to join the meetings. A warm welcome awaits mums with young children who can enjoy a coffee, home-made cake and chat, or simply chill out with a paper / magazine in the Jugglers' Café. For further information call GHBC on 01753 887173, or Joyce Gledhill on 01753 88026.

CHALFONT St Peter Parish Council Chairman, Richard Allen, has sent this message:

"I was invited along with local business people to the Church Middle School to see a presentation on their fund raising week for Kenya. I was very impressed since they are working directly with a school in a Kenyan slum, corresponding with the children and raising money. The school is run by one woman and sadly had all of its furniture, bedding and equipment was bunt by political rioters earlier this year. All the children are orphans and sleep on the floor of the school. Orphans in Kenya are not allowed to have free state education as its a social stigma. They are trying to replace everything and bore a water hole which the woman who runs the school can use the water to sell (water is not free in Kenya) and help fund the school. The aim is to raise £2500 in a week. Not only is this a worthwhile cause but it helps the children at the middle school realize that you can work together as a community locally and globally and raise money. If you want to contribute to this worthwhile project, the contact details are:

ALL the stories of pubs closures don't apply to The Three Pigeons, in Austenwood Lane Chalfont St Peter. It was refurbished a few months ago and is now a most attractive venue at which to both drink and eat. We had a splendid meal there, beautifully cooked and also enjoyed the upgrading of the decor and the quality of the cuisine. The pub has been taken over by Ben and Anouska, who are a local couple, fuelled by a passion to serve ethically sourced, fresh and seasonal food in a relaxed and comfortable environment and they have certainly achieved this aim. You will find the pub to be a good place to meet friends and reverse the trend of people not visiting pubs because it is easier to drink at home. With that sort of attitude, the social side of life will become moribund and people will become more and more isolated.

Pubs are a British tradition and have always offered a chance to meet and learn about others and, in the case of The Three Pigeons especially, to have a lively experience of dining enjoyably as well. The food is a mixture of classic British dishes and some more contemporary and lighter fare. Regular menu changes and daily specials encourage people to keep going back to sample new dishes that come onto the menu and entice them to eat out, rather than having to cook and tidy up afterwards at home. The ambience of a properly run establishment makes it a special treat to be served and sit back and enjoy it. It's worth a visit and if you want to look them up on the website, you can go to www.the3pigeons.com Telephone 01753 889919

THE sails on Lacey Green Windmill will be turning once again on Sunday 11 May. The windmill, which dates from 1650 has been restored by the Chiltern Society and they will be showing it off in all its former glory between 2.30-5.30pm, weather permitting. Visitors will also be able to go inside the structure to see the original wooden machinery. The windmill is the only one in Bucks to be set in motion as part of National Mills Weekend. Visitors will also be able to have a go at being a Radio Amateur, as the windmill is hosting an amateur radio special event on 11 May to make contact with other mills around Britain and abroad. The local Horticultural Society will have a plant stall at the windmill. More details about the windmill can be found on www.laceygreenwindmill.org.uk or on 01844 275871. It is situated behind the Whip Inn, Lacey Green, near Princes Risborough.

THE Annual General Meeting of the Chalfont St Peter Neighbourhood Action Group will take place on Wednesday 7th May at 7 pm in the Goldhill Baptist Church.

It is intended, as last year, that the various village groups should, if they wish, have a table available in order that they may present details of their work in the village and if your group would like to take part in this please contact the Chairman, Martyn Groves at martyn.groves@goldhill.org so that this can be arranged.

The intention is to open the doors at 7 pm for residents to visit the tables and discuss matters of interest, the meeting will then take place and there will be time afterwards to visit the tables again. During the meeting you will hear of the work of NAG during the past year and have an opportunity to indicate which village problems you would like NAG to address during the coming year. Please pass this information to any residents who may be interested.

THE Probus Club is for retired men of all occupations and meets at Colston Hall, The Memorial Centre, Gerrards Cross, on the first and third Wednesdays of the month, 10am for 10.30, finishing at noon. Enquiries to Guy on 01753 886514, or just turn up and say 'hello' to the host at the door.

PARISH Councillor Linda Smith reports on how the Village Appraisal Environment Group are tackling with the help of their £10,000. Lottery Breathing Spaces grant. "This project is being co-ordinated by BCTV on behalf of this group in partnership with Chiltern Chalk Streams Project, Chiltern Society and input from the Environment Agency who own the river bed. The first step was the tree work which has already been carried out. The next project will be "Operation Declutter" on Saturday, 7th June between 9.30 a.m. - 3.00 p.m. when it is hoped that villagers, children from local schools, youth club etc. will devote some time to helping to clear the river bed and river bank. Flyers regarding this project are currently being sent to many organisations within the village. The final project will be planting along the river bank. Moving the recycling bins away from the river is also part of this project."

IS A DAY in the tranquil Chilterns about to become a thing of the past? Tranquil areas of the Chilterns are facing significantly more noise nuisance from aircraft flying to and from Luton and Heathrow airports. Proposals for reorganised flight paths by the National Air Traffic Services (NATS) will result in many more planes flying directly over the Chiltern countryside at lower levels. John Taylor, Chairman of the Chiltern Society commented: "We believe NATS' proposals are wrong and that they have not looked properly at the alternatives. The Government is putting commercial strategies from the Treasury and the Department of Transport above the environment of millions who live in and visit the Chilterns. "Yet the same government has given the Chilterns special status for over 40 years, describing this Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty as 'one of the jewels of the English landscape.' Is a quiet day in the hills about to become a thing of the past?" The Society is urgently preparing a detailed formal response to the NATS consultation document, for submission by 22 May. "If you want to take action, or need more information, look at our website www.chilternsociety.org.uk," said John Taylor. "In particular, I urge everyone who values peace and quiet in the Chilterns to respond urgently to the consultation documents issued by NATS available at www.consultation.nats.co.uk."

CHALFONT COMMON W I report that their speaker for the April meeting, Mrs Maureen Dennis, gave a very interesting insight into the life of young women and their future in the nineteenth century. The talk entitled 'Miss Tilbury and Miss Dove' was about education and how they became involved in it. Miss Dove was the founder of Wycombe Abbey girls' school; Miss Tilbury was one of the housemaids at the school and who befriended Mrs Dennis and provided the reminiscences for her talk.

In the 1800s young educated ladies who were married off, lost everything to their husband as they had no legal rights. If you became a governess you were worse off financially (£12 a year) than a housemaid. Jane Dove who was taught languages by her father, a vicar, thought there must be more to life and after three years learning maths and geography started her own school for girls. Discrimination against women was rife at the time and it was thought that education would make girls unfit for marriage. Even Darwin said a woman's place was to serve man. Eventually after teaching at various schools and as a headmistress, in 1896 she started the Wycombe Abbey school for girls. She became a Wycombe town councillor and was nominated for Mayor but defeated by the prejudices of the men on the council. Miss Tilbury, a local Wycombe girl, worked as a housemaid at the school, earning £8 a year. In her conversations with the speaker, she recalled her years at the school including a riot in Wycombe over foreign furniture displacing local woodworking jobs. Mrs Dennis recounted many other interesting anecdotes collected from Mrs Tilbury, and certainly made us realise how life has change in just over 100 years. The group meets on the first Thursday of each month, in the Tony Graham room at the Chalfont St Peter Community Centre 7.30 for 7.45pm.

CHALFONT St Peter Chamber of Commerce elected local estate agent and Chartered Surveyor Michael Day as their new President. He is Managing Director of Integra Property Services, has lived in the village for twenty years and steps up having been Vice President last year. The Chamber of Commerce was also celebrating its 60th anniversary and a number of past Presidents were present at the AGM which was held at the Community Centre. Michael Day thanked outgoing President, Liz Royal, for her hard work and success during her year in office and said it was his intention to continue the progress made through increasing the membership and, in particular, developing further the website and communication links, in order to campaign on behalf of, and support, local businesses during what are potentially difficult economic times. He is particularly keen to reach out and involve further the many businesses that operate in Chalfont St Peter away from the High Street and Market Place. The Chamber will continue to be at the forefront on such issues as car parking within the village centre where real progress towards a better and more integrated solution for the benefit of business and customers seems to be happening. It will also continue to organise events such as the Christmas Fun Night which is one of the highlights of the village year. Any business or individual who would like to know more about the Chamber can visit the website at www.cspchamber.org.uk or contact Michael Day directly on 01753 480430.

CONTACT the elderly is a charity founded about 30 years ago. It aims to give frail, isolated, elderly people companionship. On the third Sunday of the month, volunteers collect one or two elderly people from their homes and drive them to the home of that month's hostess. About eight elderly folk and their drivers gather at the home of a volunteer host or hostess. A welcoming cup of tea at 3pm is followed by a quiz and chat, then an afternoon tea with savouries, cakes and a cuppa. At about 5pm the drivers take their guest home. The hope is that the elderly have enjoyed the companionship of people their own age and also of the younger drivers. For those who cannot get out much, or whose family lives too far away to visit often, or don't have family, it provides a chance for a relaxed chat in a homely setting. The charity is a national organisation. There are now seven groups in Bucks, but still lots of potential guests who would benefit from a group in their area. If you think you could host a tea party, drive or support, please contact the Buckinghamshire Development Officer, Terry Gibson, on 01276 502611 or email terry.gibson@contact-the-elderly.org.uk. If you think that you'd like to be a guest at such a tea party, contact your doctor in the first instance. All the guests are referred to contact the Elderly by their GP or Age Concern.
